Last week's Program !!

Our speaker this week was Karen Polson who is from The Sun-coast Seabird Sanctuary. Karen brought along a permanent resident of the Sanctuary, McGoo a screech owl. He has been a resident for about 5 years. He is unable to go back into the wild, due to the fact that he was a pet and therefore is now domesticated.

The Sanctuary has been in operation for about 30 years and sits on about 1 1/2 acres of land. It started when one boy brought home an injured bird and it has developed into a place that rescues any where from 20 to 30 birds per day. All birds are tagged prior to being released. The birds eat about 600 pound of fish per day. The ultimate goal is for all injured birds to be released back into the wild. They have about a 95% success rate and currently have a couple of hundred birds. The sanctuary is their permanent home. In addition to the many volunteers they also have about 15 full-time employees. Given the current oil situation, many people have called in and asked how they can help. They receive so many donations of dawn, pepto-bismol, towels and other supplies, they sought help with storage. The dawn will remove the oil from the animal and the pepto-bismol will assist in the digestion of the oil. Employees of the Sanctuary have gone through hazardous training and all are on stand- by based on the need. Delta works with the sanctuary to fly the birds North to Minnesota, to escape the oil. A big need is for gas cards and donations for the rescuers to travel. The sanctuary is funded through memberships, sponsors, donations and individuals adopting birds. You are encouraged to visit the Seabird Sanctuary in person or visit there website at seabirdsanctuary.com. Admission is always free.

This Week's Program: Our Program Chairman, Phyllis Tellor, will introduce Dr. Sonia Karamchandani. Dr. Sonia , a native of Greenville, SC, received her Bachelors of Science in Chemistry from the USC in 2005 and her Doctor of Dental Medicine degree from South Carolina in May 2009. Currently a resident at the University of Florida, she has received advanced training at the renowned Dawson Academy and Pankey Institute. Dr. Sonia chose dentistry as a profession because of her desire to aid patient's in improving their oral health. A member of the ADA and the Academy of General Dentistry, she was honored to be selected for their Senior Student Dental Award and the American Student Dental Association's Ryan Turner Memorial Scholarship. Sonia enjoys giving back to the community.
